HINTS:

1. There are some styles that the browser applies on your webpage by default - without your knowledge. For example - it applies a certain margin to your h1 tag. Because of which, you might notice extra spacing around your heading. So, set margin:0 for your h1 tag to create the spacing as expected for this activity.

2. Use a margin top of 40px for all your h3 elements.

3. Use inline styles for the divider line - background-colour should be #404040, width 200px, height 1px and margin auto.

4. Set a width of 100% to the table - to make it stretch fully.

5. Set text-align left for specific elements using inline styles.
